Saturday 30 September

13:00 - 15:00

Burton Ferry

Meet: Outside the public toilets what3words ///plankton.confronts.sends

Local community members are welcomed to join a walk to explore the seashore at Burton Ferry with Sue Burton and staff from The Darwin Centre. Join in to find out more about native oysters and species on the shore.

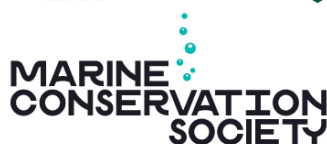

It will also be an introduction to the 'Natur am Byth!' species restoration programme and an opportunity to learn about how you can get involved in native oyster restoration and help this historically celebrated species.

All welcome. U14s to be accompanied by an adult. Wetsuit boots or wellies recommended. Discover something new!

Refreshments included and available afterwards.
